

INDEX

TO THE

HUNDRED AND FORTY-FIFTH VOLUME OF THE
QUARTERLY REVIEW.

A.

- Aberdeen, Lord, and the Crimean War, 309.
 Achilles, shield of, peculiarity of, 85.
 Adams succeeds Washington as President of the United States, 495.
 Adrianople, the peace of, 540 — treaty of, 548.
 Agora, the, at Mycenæ, 68.
 Akroyd, Mr., church at Haley Hill, Halifax, 346—his other gifts to the church, 347.
 Ariosto's 'Orlando Furioso,' 13—spirit of irony, 14.
 Aristotle, the prophetic exponent of a limited and regenerated democracy, 121—foresight of a constitutional government, 283.
 Arnold's, Matthew, discourse on 'Equality,' 294.
 Art, Italian, dissociated from religion, 17.
 Athens, democracy in, 116 — under Pericles, 118—system of government, 282.

B.

- Baker, Colonel J., on emigration into Bulgaria, 550.
 Bakers, effect of their occupation on health, 100.
 Banns, marriages by, increase of, 105.
 Baptist churches in Yorkshire, annual report of, 357.
 Bartolmæss, M., describes Giordano Bruno, 374.
 Bessarabia, retrocession of, 565.
 Bill of rights, the, 284.
 Bisset, Mr., 'Omitted Chapters in the History of England,' 474.

Vol. 145.—No. 290.

2 Q

- Boccaccio, absence of an heroic element in his writings, 13.
 Bowls, Phœnician, 86—from Cyprus, 73, 86—Italy, 86.
 Brake-power, its importance in railways, 176, 177.
 Bright's, Mr., speech at Manchester on the government of India, 439.
 'Britannia' training-ship, course of study, 399.
 Bruno, Giordano, 362—birth, 364 — enters the Order of the Dominicans, 365—flight from Naples to Rome, ib.—at Geneva, ib.—at Toulouse, 366—at Paris, 367—at the French ambassador's in London, ib.—lectures at Oxford, 368—contrasts the masters and scholars with English gentlemen, 369—his paradoxes and patrons, 370—condemned as an apostate, ib.—his Platonic philosophy, 371—habit of satire and invective on the Church, 372 — hatred for the papacy, 373 — character described, 374—burnt at Rome, ib.
 Bulgarian peasant, the, prosperity and independence of, 549.
 Burke, on the character of the Renaissance in England, 22, 23—on the 'Cabal,' 288.
 Butchers, mortality among, 99.
 Butler's 'Analogy,' Professor Tyndall's misapprehension of, 46, 47.

C.

- Caccini, the monk, his sermon against Galileo, 381.
 Cadiz Constitution, overthrow of the, in 1823, 134.
 Campbell's, Lord, Act for compensating families of persons killed by railway accidents, 167, 169.

- Canning, Lord, first viceroy in India, 424—his reply to Sir James Mackintosh, 301.
- Carlyle, on 'Wilhelm Meister,' 154—on the 'Helena' in 'Faust,' 155.
- Carvers and gilders, health of, 101.
- Children, death-rate among, 95.
- Church, the, in West Riding, 328—increase of population, 329—numerous dialects, 330—John Crosse, ib.—Hammond Roberson, 331—Henry Venn and William Grimshaw, 332—their indifference to the authority of the Church, 333—irreverence, Dissent, 334—Church extension promoted by Bishop Longley, 335—and popular education, 336—Dr. Hook, 337—341—Methodism, 338—Church Extension Society at Leeds, 343—at Bradford, 345—at Sheffield, 346—Doncaster, 348—church restoration, 349—sums expended, 350—baptisms and confirmations, ib.—increase of contributions, 351—effect of the Education Act of 1870, 352—lavish expenditure of the School Board, 353—Sunday-schools, ib.—Church institutes, 354, 355—influence of Church progress on Dissent, 355—Congregationalism, 356, 357—Baptists, 357—359—church missions, 360—choral services, ib.
- Clergy, health of the, 100.
- Clive's, Lord, policy in India, 419—obtains three imperial charters from Shah Alum, 420.
- Cock-fighting prohibited by the Long Parliament, 468.
- Commonwealth, the, legislation of the, 449—first act of the Long Parliament, 450—coinage, 451—new great seal, 452—gunpowder and saltpetre, ib.—Act abolishing any temporal jurisdiction to persons in holy orders, 453—assessment on behalf of wounded soldiers, widows and orphans, 454—the Directory substituted for the Prayer-book, 456—baptisms, ib.—celebration of marriage, 457—provisions for burial, ib.—singing of psalms, 458—removal of altars, &c., ib.—payment of tithes, 459—upholding and keeping all parish churches and chapels, 460—Society for propagating the Gospel in New England, 461—observance of the Lord's day, 462—Saints' days abolished, 463—violations of the moral law, 464—control of the press, 465—the 'Areopagitica,' ib.—unlicensed or scandalous pamphlets, 466—preservation of literary treasures, 466—suppression of stage-plays and interludes, 467—fiddlers or minstrels, 468—horse-racing, cock-fighting, ib.—the law of marriage and registration, 468, 469—appointment of surveyors of the highways, 469—union of parishes for spiritual purposes, 470—the well-governing of the universities, ib.—release of poor debtors, 471—law proceedings, ib.—dwelling, 472—building in or near London, ib.—rates of postage, 473.
- Congregationalism in Yorkshire, 356, 357.
- Conservation of energy, doctrine of, 40.
- Conservatism, policy of, 324.
- Consumption, deaths by, 95, 96.
- Copernican system, the, condemned by the Inquisition, 384.
- Corn Laws, abolition of the, unity of feeling between the Crown and the people, 295.
- Cornwallis, Lord, attempts to establish a balance of power among the native chiefs of India, 421.
- Cowen, Mr., on the vote of supply, 326.
- Crimean War, effect of, on Russia, 547.
- Crosse, Rev. John, his labours in West Riding, 330, 331.
- Crown, the, and the Constitution, 277—nature of constitutional government, 281—privileges enjoyed by subjects, 283—checks on the power of the Crown, 284—joint action of the king and the people, 285—the right to grant supplies, ib.—national independence, 286—revolution of 1688, 287—temporary eclipse of the Crown, 288—parliamentary 'connection,' 289—Whig oligarchy, 290—effect of the Reform Bill, 292—Whigs and Liberals, 293, 294—Toryism, 294—influence of the Crown in its relation to foreign affairs, 297—objects of the war with France, 299—policy of intervention, 302—of non-intervention, 304—influence of the Crown during the Crimean War, 313—policy of Conservatism, 324.
- Cypselus, chest of, 75, 76.
- D.
- Dalhousie's, Lord, policy in India, 422, 423.
- Dante's colloquy with Farinata in the 'Inferno,' 7.
- Danube, the, navigation of, 566.
- Deaths from violent causes, 95—consumption, 96—privation, 102—excess in food, 103.

Debtors, poor, Act of Long Parliament to release, 471.

Democracy in Europe, 112—distinction between liberty and, 114—affinity between, and religious persecution, ib.—rise and progress of Israel, 115—the Essenes, 116—Solon's concessions, ib.—principles, 117—Pericles, ib.—doctrine of the Sophists, 119—disciples of Socrates, ib.—Plato, 120—Aristotle, ib.—the Stoics, 121—the Roman Republic, 122—revival of, in Western Europe, 127—democratic element in Presbyterianism, 128—at Paris, ib.—in America, 130—Turgot's reforms in France, 131—theory of equality of the French Revolution, 133—revival in Spain, 134—Swiss, ib.—the Sonderbund, 135—promises of socialism, 136—the true democratic principle, 137—experimental politics, 139—proportional representation, 140—federalism, 141—maxim of the Doctrinaires, ib.

Dissent in West Riding, 334—Wesleyan type, 338—influence of Church progress on, 355.

Dockyard schools, 403.

Duelling, Act against, by Long Parliament, 472.

Durand, Sir Henry, in India, 427.

E.

East India Company, the, close of, 423.
Eastern Question in its new aspect, 259.

'Edinburgh Review,' the, on the identity of the Liberals with the old Whigs, 292, 293—on Toryism, 294.

Education Act, the, effect of, in West Riding, 352.

Elections, indirect, 140.

Elland Society, the, established by H. Venn, 332.

Emigration into Turkey, 550.

Empress of India, Queen Victoria proclaimed, 433—first anniversary, 440.

Engineer students at the Dockyard schools, 403.

England, history of, in the Eighteenth Century, 498—Whigs and Tories, 499—low state of political morality, 507—want of public spirit, 508—marriage scandals, 510—gin-drinking, 511—violence and crime in the London streets, 512, 513—the 'Mohocks,' 512—watchmen, 513—venality of the justices, 514—poor debtors, ib.—gaol fever, 515—robbery and murder suppressed by Fielding, 516—highway robberies, 517—frequency of public executions, 518—their brutality enhanced in cases of high treason, 519—increase of executions, 520—amelioration in the penal code, 521—condition of the army, 522—abuses of the navy, 523—gambling, 524—contempt for the decencies of life, 526—condition of the stage, 527—painting, gardening, architecture, 528—social position of the intellectual class, 529—their maintenance, 531.

Erasmus on English ladies, 369.

'Examiner' paper, the, on the conduct of the Crown at the abolition of the Corn Laws, 296.

Executions, public, brutalising effect enhanced in cases of high treason, 519.

F.

Farmers and agricultural labourers, health of, 101.

Farr, Dr., on the pecuniary value of a Norfolk agricultural labourer's life, 99.

Fielding, compared with Trollope, 27—on the venality of justices, 514—suppresses robbery and murder in London, 516—on public executions, 518.

Fishmongers, mortality among, 100.

Foot-boards, continuous, for trains, 178.

Fossil-men, Prof. Virchow on, 52, 53.

France, democracy in, 131-134.

Frankland's, Prof., analysis of the water supplied by the Metropolitan Company, 107.

G.

Gaekwar, the, of Baroda, his maladministration, 429.

Galileo Galilei, described by H. Martin, 375—his telescopes, 376—views of the Copernican system, 378—at Rome, 379—favourable answer of the Collegio Romano, 381—sermon preached against him by Caccini, ib.—his justification, 382—second visit to Rome, 383—third visit to congratulate Pope Urban VIII., 385—publishes his 'Dialogues,' 386—summoned to Rome, 387—his abjuration, 390—pardon, 391—death, 392.

Gambling in the eighteenth century, 524.

Gibbon's predictions fulfilled about the Russians and Constantinople, 534.

Giotto's painting described by Mr. Symonds, 17.

Gladstone's theory about the graves at Mycenæ, 89.

Goethe, a French critic on, 143—in Rome, 149—his life at Weimar, 149, 152—marriage, 152.

Goode, Dean, and Ripon Cathedral, 349.

Goodenough, Commodore, on naval education, 395.

Gortchakoff's, Prince, answer to Lord Salisbury's Circular, 567.

Grenville, Lord, on the objects of the war with France, 299.

———, Mr. T., adventure with highwaymen, 517.

Grimshaw, Rev. Wm., his labours in West Riding, 332.

Gyraldus on the literati, or humanists, in Italy, 10.

H.

Haeckel, Prof., of Jena, his advocacy of the Darwinian theory, 52.

Hallstadt, mode of sepulture compared with Mycenæ, 69.

Hamilton's struggles for constitutional freedom in the United States, 486—cold and unsympathetic temperament, 487—knowledge of finance, 493.

Hankey's, Mr. T., letter to the 'Daily News,' 232.

Harcourt, Sir Wm., on the vote of supply, 300.

Havelock, Sir H., on the conquest of Armenia, 267.

Haydon and Lord Melbourne, 225, 226.

Hegel on Macchiavelli's 'Prince,' 2.

Henry, Patrick, his oratorical powers, 489—opposes the new constitution in Virginia, 490.

Highwaymen in the eighteenth century, 517.

Holkar, the Maharaja, advice about the Gaekwar of Baroda, 430.

Homer's vivid imagination, 82, 83—description of the sword-belt of Hercules, 85.

Hook, Dr., of Leeds, 337—his popularity, 339—preaching, catechising, 340—attachment to the Church of England, 341—disinterestedness, 342—becomes Dean of Chichester, 343—generosity, ib.

Hutton, Mr., on 'Götz von Berlichingen,' 148.

I.

Imperial Order of the Crown of India, 441.

Intervention, policy of, 302.

Irish, the seven, or obstructives, 234.

Israel, dawn of democracy in, 115.

Italy, Renaissance in, 4—see 'Renaissance.'

J.

Japan, alliance of Russia with, 561.

Johnson's, Dr., protest against the discontinuance of processions to Tyburn, 520.

K.

Kingsley, Rev. Charles, on the type of heads of the 17th and 18th centuries, 529.

L.

Lamb, Lady Caroline, 196—her peculiarities, 197—acquaintance with Lord Byron, 201—imprudence and contempt of form, 203—the dagger story, ib.—'Glenarvon,' 205—letter to Godwin, 208—caprices and vagaries, 209—death, 214.

Lange's illustration of the merchant, 43.

Lecky, W. E. H., 'History of England in the Eighteenth Century,' 498—on the principles of the Whigs and Tories, 500—the stream of tendency, 501—position of the first kings of the Hanoverian line, 505—Walpole's administration, 506—court intrigues and parliamentary corruptions, ib.—character of the legislation, 509—punishment by death, 519—condition of the army, 521—on the maintenance of literary men, 530—circumstances favourable to literary development, 532—religious revival, 533.

Leeds Church Extension Society, 343, 344.

Lenormant, M. François, on the probable date of the Trojan treasures, 88.

Lewes, Mr., his criticism of Goethe's 'Tasso' and 'Iphigenia,' 151—'Egmont,' 153—'Hermann and Dorothea,' 154—on Goethe's prose, 155.

Liberals, adoption of the name, 292.

Liberationists, the, 355.

Life, pecuniary value of a, 98, 99.

Lilburne's views of democracy, 129.

Literati or humanists, described by Gyraldus, 10.

Liverpool, death-rate at, 98.

Longley, Bishop, his zeal in promoting church extension, 335—diocesan societies, 335—influence and self-denial, 337.

 Lord's Day, the observance of, enacted by the Long Parliament, 462.

M.

Macchiavelli's object in writing 'The Prince,' 2—on the evil example of the Papal Court, 10.

Madison, James, 'Life and Times of,' 475—birth and education, 476—commences his public career, 481—member of the State Council, 482—returns to the Virginian Congress and opposes the claims of Spain, 483—expiration of his term of office, 485—invites the States to a general conference at Annapolis, 488—series of papers in the 'Federalist,' 490—alienated from his old allies, 492—breach with the federal party, 493—personal controversy with Hamilton, 494—triumph of democracy, 496.

Maistre, Joseph de, on Milton's literary reputation, 143—on Shakespeare, ib.

Manchester, death-rate at, 98.

Manufacturing population, average of mortality, 101.

Marcellus criticises Canning's foreign policy, 307.

March of an English Generation through Life, 94—number of deaths at the different stages of life, 95, 96—spinsters and bachelors, widows and widowers, 96, 97—violent deaths, 97—sanitary arrangements, ib.—pecuniary value of life, 98, 99—mortality among butchers, 99—fishmongers, bakers, publicans, 100—clergy, medical men, ib.—wool, silk, and cotton operatives, 101—tailors, shoemakers, miners, farmers, agricultural labourers, ib.—vegetable and mineral dust, 102—deaths by privation, ib.—from excess of food, 103—relations between the increase of the population and rate of mortality, ib.—prosperity or depression in trade, 104—emigration, ib.—number of marriages at an earlier age than in former times, 105—mortality of unmarried men, ib.—improvement in education, ib.—marriage by banns, ib.—by licence, 106—vicissitudes of temperature, ib.—quality of the water, 107—organic pollution of the Thames and Lea, 108, 109—water-supply of London, 109, 110—decline in the proportion of medical men to the increased population, 110.

Marriage and Registrations Act, by Long Parliament, 469.

May, Sir Thos. Erskine, his 'Democracy in Europe,' 112.

Medical men, mortality among, 100—no increase in proportion to the population, 110.

Melbourne, Lord, 188—ancestors, 189—mother, 190—192—death of his brother, 193—at Eton and Cambridge, ib.—epistle to the editor of the 'Jacobin,' 194—at Glasgow, 195—called to the bar, 196—marriage, ib.—birth of son, 197—maiden speech, ib.—daily life, 198—the Regency Bill, 199—loses his seat, 200—resumes it, 207—domestic troubles, 209—biography of Sheridan, 210—Chief Secretary for Ireland, 212—death of his wife, 214—succeeds his father, 215—Home Secretary, 217—acquaintance with Mrs. Norton, 219—first meeting with Disraeli, 219, 220—action of Norton v. Melbourne, 221—becomes Premier, 222—reply to Brougham, 223—influence with Queen Victoria, 224—the 'Bedchamber question,' 225—his favourite studies, 226—patronage, 227—closing years, 228—death, 229.

Men, mortality among, 95—97—health of, engaged in various occupations, 99—102—mortality of unmarried, 105—improvement in education, ib.

Miall, Mr. G., 'Congregationalism in Yorkshire,' 356.

Miners, unhealthy occupation of, 101.

Mutiny of the Nore, its suppression, 291.

Mycenæ, by Dr. Schliemann, 62—its site, 64—abundance of gold, ib.—described by Pausanias, 65—excavations by Veli Pasha, 66—by Dr. Schliemann, ib.—the Agora, 67, 68—compared with Hallstadt, 69—cisterns, palace, 69—subterranean treasure-houses, 70—walls and gates, 71—bronze or copper-clad walls, 72—classes of patterns or designs, 72, 73—pottery, geometrical, 77—gold and metal-work, 78—analogy to the bronze age in northern Europe, 78, 79—Hellenic type, 80—Egyptian form, 81—Phœnician influence in animal forms, ib.—human figures on tombstones, 82—resemblance between Homer's description and the Asiatic style, 84, 85—probable date of the graves, 87—the Dorian conquest, 88—Mr. Gladstone's theory, 89—another less startling theory, 89, 90.

N.

- Napoleon I.'s opinion of Russia and Constantinople, 542.
- Naval College at Greenwich, 407—routine, 408—compulsory students, 408—412—voluntary, 412—414.
- Naval education, 394—importance of seamanship, 394, 395—examination without competition, 397—course of study, 398—college at Portsmouth, 399—the 'Britannia' training-ship, 400, 401—system of training, 402—advantage of entering early, ib.—engineer students, 403—shipwrights' apprentices, 404—dockyard schools, 405—elementary education of naval cadets and engineers, 406, 407—routine of the Naval College at Greenwich, 408—lieutenants in the navy, 409—probationary officers of the Royal Marines, 410—acting sub-lieutenants, 410, 411—naval instructors, 411—voluntary students, 412, 413—engineer officers and foreigners, 414—examinations, 415.
- New Englander, the, on Prof. Tyndall's 'Science and Man,' 56.
- Nicholas, Emperor, his conversations with Lord Aberdeen about Turkey, 546.
- Norton, the Hon. Mrs., her acquaintance with Lord Melbourne, 219—trial, 221.

O.

- Obstructive party, the, and the House of Commons, 231—the Irish seven, 234—half-past twelve rule, 235, 254—Bill to protect labourers working on threshing-machines, 236, 237—the Prisons Bill, 238—'flogging clause,' 239—South Africa Bill, 240, 243—246—rules for restraining speaking against time, 243—the twenty-six hours' sitting, 246—popularity of the Obstructors, 248, 249—proposed suspension of, 250—American rules, 251—proposed changes, 253—the French Chambers, 257.

P.

- Palmerston, Lord, and his constitutional propaganda, 308—on Mr. Gladstone's peace at any price during the Crimean War, 310.
- Parnell, Mr., on the Prisons Bill, 238, 239.
- Pausanias' account of Mycenæ, 65—careful description of the chest of Cypselus, 75.

Peel, Sir Robert, on the policy of intervention, 302.

Phœnician style of art, 72—bowls and metal ware, 73—works of gold and silver in the cemeteries of Etruria, 74.

Phœnicico-Asiatic style, date of, 86, 87.

Postage, rates of, settled by Long Parliament, 473.

Pottery, date of Asiatic style, 87.

Press, regulation of the, by the Long Parliament, 465.

Press-gang, evils of the, 523.

Prince Consort, the Life of, by Theodore Martin, 261—on the encroachment of Russia, ib.—letter to the Emperor of Germany on the erection of war harbours in the Black Sea, 269, 270—the duties of an English monarch, 296—policy of the masses during the Crimean War, 304—traditional principle of English policy contained in his 'Memorandum,' 310.

Princes, the, of India, and the proclamation of the Empire, 418—Clive's policy, 419—Warren Hastings' and Lord Wellesley's, 421—Lord Dalhousie, 422—Sikh war, ib.—mutiny, 423—close of the East India Company, Lord Canning first viceroy, 424—concession of the right of adoption, 426—conditions of the perpetuation of the principalities, 428—maladministration of the Gaekwar of Baroda, 429—extradition provisions, 431—visit of the Prince of Wales, 432—the Queen assumes the government, ib.—proclaimed Empress, 433—territory and population of India, 435—nationality and sovereignty, 437—anniversary of the proclamation, 440—'Imperial Order of the Crown of India,' 441—the Maharana of Meywar, 442, 443—the Maharaja Sindia, 444—446—the Begum of Bhopal, 446—Christianity, 446, 447—advances of Russia, 448.

Propagation of the Gospel, Society for, first germ of, in the Long Parliament, 461.

Publicans, high rate of mortality among, 100.

Purchase in the army, abolition of, its good effects, 523.

R.

- Railway accidents, 163—the position of companies with regard to the general public, 165—Lord Campbell's Act, 166—supervision of the Board of Trade, 167, 168—causes of, 169—

- number of deaths, 170—classification of, 171—tire accidents, 172—permanent ways, 172, 173—collisions, 173—unpunctuality, 173, 174—insufficient number of servants, 175—want of brake-power, 176, 177—deaths from collateral causes, 178—accidents to railway servants, ib.—fly-shunting, 179—directors, 180, 181—appropriation of railways by the State, 182, 183—Government control, 183.
- Ramazzini, Bernardo, 99—his classification of the diseases of men in Modena, and on the northern slope of the Apennines, ib.
- Reform Bill, the, its effect on the Crown, 295.
- Renaissance, in Italy and in England, 1—wide meaning of the word, 4—precocity of civilisation and rapidity of decline in Italy, 6—disunion of medieval Italy, 6, 7—early refinement, 8—influence of the Catholic Church, 9—memorials of departed grandeur, ib.—literati and humanists, 10—morals, 11—humanist literature, 12—art, 14—painting, 15—dissociated from religion, 17—law of continuous human progress, 18—20—social equilibrium, 21—advance of, in England, 22—religious system, 23, 24—national instinct of honour, 25—our social tone, 26—Fielding and Trollope compared, 27—29—spirit of Italian Renaissance in English art and letters, 29—Hellenism, 30—self-conscious freedom, 31.
- Richardson's novels, their effect when first published, 525, 526.
- Ripon Cathedral restored, 349.
- Roberson, Rev. Hammond, 331—establishes the first Sunday-school, 332.
- Roebuck's, Mr., committee of inquiry during the Crimean War, 306.
- Romilly on the French Revolution, 520—his Bill for omitting the cruelties in the executions for high treason, 521.
- Russia, her right of independent action, 262—conquests in Armenia, 266, 267.
- aggression of, and the duty of Great Britain, 534—her gradual encroachment, 537, 538—the Peace of Adrianople, 540—Turkey a barrier, 543—the 'Holy Mission,' 544—refusal to concede the protectorate of the Christians, 547—effect of the Crimean war, 547, 548—consistent aim of Russian policy, 549—Treaty of San Stefano, 550, 558–561—secret societies, 552—conference at Constantinople, 553—arguments for war or peace, 554—the violated treaty, 556—Mr. Gladstone's charge against Government, 557—Lord Salisbury's despatch, 560—money indemnity, 561, 562—change in the boundaries, 563—alliance with Japan, 564—retrocession of Bessarabia, 565—navigation of the Danube, 566, 567—Prince Gortchakoff's answer to Lord Salisbury's circular, 567—state of her troops, 570.
- S.
- Saints' days, observance of, abolished by the Long Parliament, 463.
- Salisbury, increase of health at, 97.
- Scherer, Edmond, his criticism on Goethe's works, 146—'Götz von Berlichingen,' 148—'Werther,' 148, 149—'Tasso' and 'Iphigenia,' 150—'Faust,' 151, 152—'Egmont,' 153—'Hermann and Dorothea,' ib.—'Wilhelm Meister,' 155—Goethe's last manner and second 'Faust,' 156—his artificial diction, 158—servility, ib.—summing up of Goethe's character, 159.
- Schiller on 'Hermann and Dorothea,' 153—'Wilhelm Meister,' 154.
- Schliemann, Dr., his excavations at Mycenæ, 66—discovers the Agora, 67—archæological value of his work, 91—endeavour to connect Mycenæ with Troy, 92, 93.
- Science, importance of modern, 36.
- Scientific lectures, their use and abuse, 35—special office of the lecturer, 37—necessary cautions, 38.
- Sindia, Maharaja of Gwalior on the proclamation of the Empress of India, 433—his childhood and minority, 445—character, 446.
- Smith, Sydney, on Lord Melbourne, 226.
- Socrates' democratic principles, 116.
- South Africa Bill, its prolonged sitting, 240, 243–246.
- Stage, its condition in the eighteenth century, 527.
- Stage-plays suppressed by the Long Parliament, 467.
- Starvation, rate of deaths by, 102.
- Stefano, San, terms of the treaty, 558–561.
- Stock, Rev. J., address to the Yorkshire Association of Baptist Churches, 357–359.
- Stoics, the, their ideal society, 121.

Sunday-schools of Lancashire and West Riding, 353, 354.
 Sunnuda, Royal, granted to the chiefs of India, 426, 427.
 Swiss democracy, 134.
 Symonds, J. A., his 'Renaissance in Italy,' 1—the comparative merits of Macchiavelli and Savonarola, 3—apology for Lorenzo de' Medici, ib.—extended view of 'Renaissance,' 4—'Revival of Learning,' 5—describes Giotto, 17.

T.

Taylor, P. A., on the 'flogging clause,' 239.
 Tieck on Byron's obligations to 'Faust,' 144.
 Trollope compared with Fielding, 27—his representative heroes, 27, 28.
 Tyndall, Prof., as a popular lecturer, 38, 39—rashness of his speculations, 38—at the British Association, 39—his responsibilities and obligations, ib.—doubts respecting the elementary principles of the Christian religion, 40—'Science and Man,' ib.—'Conservation of Energy,' ib.—muscular heat, 41—the soul and free-will, 42—Lange's instance of the merchant, 43—molecular motions, ib.—concession about the 'Soul,' 45—human consciousness, 46—misapprehension of Bp. Butler's argument, 46, 47—opinion on free-will, 48—theory of public justice exposed by the Archbp. of York, 49, 50—assumption of the Darwinian theory, 50, 51—atheism and materialism, 54, 55—American criticism, 56.

U.

Urban VIII., Pope, receives Galileo with cordiality, 385—takes offence, 386—summons Galileo to appear before the Inquisition, 387, 389—urges the utmost rigour, 390.

V.

Vases, Corinthian and Asiatic, 76, 77.

Vatican MSS. brought to Paris, and restored by Louis Philippe, 392.
 Vaughan, Dr., his valuable training of clergy at Doncaster, 348.
 Veli Pasha's excavations at Mycenæ, 66.
 Venn, Henry, establishes the Elland Society, 332.
 Verax, his five letters, 279—notions of the constitutional position of the sovereign, 280—on the influence of the Crown on our foreign policy, 298.
 Victoria, Queen, assumes the government of India, 432—proclaimed 'Empress of India,' 433.
 Virchow, Prof., 51—speech at Munich, 52—on fossil men, 52, 53—rebuks to his brother professors, 53—on the duties of a public lecturer, 58—the evolution theory, 59—continuous growth of organic life, 60.
 Virginia, State of, 479—vigorous spirit of independence, 480—forms a new constitution, 481.

W.

Wace, Prof., at the Church Congress, 55.
 Water-supply of London, 107, 109—analysis of the waters of the Thames and the Lea, 108—organic impurity, 108, 109.
 Wellesley's, Lord, policy in India, 421.
 Wellington, the Duke of, his public testimony about Lord Melbourne, 225—on the Peace of Adrianople, 540.
 Whig and Tory, meaning of the terms, 499—Mr. Lecky's argument, 500.
 Whigs, identity of Liberals with, 292.
 Women, mortality among young, 95—spinsters, wives, and widows, 96—early marriages, 105—improvement in education, ib.
 'Worth of Life,' the, by the Archbp. of York, 35.

Y.

York, Archbp. of, on Prof. Tyndall's theory of public justice, 49, 50.
 Young, Tom, secretary to Lord Melbourne, 217, 218.

*Ed. Rev.
Gen.*

END OF THE HUNDRED AND FORTY-FIFTH VOLUME.

